M'Nichols' Harvest Alone An Earnest Man's Crop.

His field is as the solid earth,
As wide as eyes can see;
He bids the stranger hold and hearth,
And when he comes, will give him meat.
He sowed his crop in early spring,
He harrowed well and long,
And when the harvest time was near,
The buyers firm and strong.
He put in furrows deep and wide,
His maple, ash and oak,
Until he dropped the ricks.
His field with honest drops was wet,
And when the sun shone bright,
New well-dries, he can forget
The labor of the seed.

After you have seen M'Nichols, you do not find yourself delighted, you will be harder to please than any of the F. H. who have been to see him. His taste, the elegance of his goods and showy dress.

A Glorious Procession to Open the Exposition.

The Post-Dispatch, as Usual, Lifts the Veil,

And Presents a Complete Description of the Trades' Display.

Next Wednesday's Parade Stated in Detail.

The Dazzling Array Which Will Parade the Streets on September 3.

Over Thirty Floats to be Seen in Line on That Evening.

Full Details of the Grand Display of the Trades' Procession—The Line of March—Plan of Lighting up the Route—History of the Organization.

Very little sleep will be vouchsafed to St. Louis next Wednesday night, September 3, although there will be more people to divide that little among them than ever before in the city's history. For one brief night St. Louis will have a larger population than any other metropolis of the country except New York, and for one brief night she will entertain them better than a million people were entertained since the flood. If she profits very largely and directly by it, it will be but a reward of merit, and, while the benefit will fall on all alike, the lion's share of the credit will, if there be a sense of justice abroad, be attributed to that organization of pluck, energy, enterprise and resources, the Merchants' Manufacturers' Trades' Display Association. The gentleman comprising that organization have for two years done a work which makes them public benefactors in an extraordinary degree, and entitles them to a prominent place in local history. Little more than a year ago the idea was first conceived of supplementing the annual fall attractions which bring people here from abroad, with a pageant which would occupy a middle ground between our great Fair and the Veiled Prophet mystery—which should combine the utilitarian features of the one with some of the startling beauty of the other, which should stamp our community as a whole as a city of vast interests and splendid drift, and at the same time reflect immediately upon the individual contributors, some measure of the rewards to which their liberality entitled them. Acting with the inspired spirit of the time, the organization prepared a pageant which, while necessarily lacking in some details and points of finish, challenged the unmeasured admiration of the multitudes who came to see it. Immediately thereafter the association organized on a permanent basis, and began preparations for 1884. The difficulties attending such a work are myriad. Business rivalries, individual jealousies, the raising of necessary funds, the disposition of every exhibitor to know what the others were doing and a score of other things contributed to render the labor an immense one, but the association's officers met the issue with great determination, and to-day have the proud satisfaction of knowing that they are about to present to the people of the West something in keeping with the commercial majesty of the greatest city beyond the Mississippi, and something which challenges the confidence of an equal number of the world.

The pageant is in full ready for its three hours of glory and radiance. The floats have been built at immense cost, and an originality of design characterizes them all. There are no duplicates and no cheap features. They are to be lighted by a system never adopted by any other procession in the country, and a system which insures perfect illumination without blinding the beholders by direct light, or stifling them by smoke or chemicals, as has been customary. The route has been carefully surveyed, to insure that there is nothing to occasion delays or mishaps, and it is given elsewhere. Many of our leading houses are arranging for a very large expenditure in the matter of illuminating their establishments and neighboring streets, thus insuring a spectacular feature of rare beauty altogether independent of the pageant. One Mr.—Richardson & Co.—intended to entertain over five hundred visiting druggists, and will fit up their mammoth establishment with gas and electricity combination to the occasion. Barr & Co.'s will make Olive street as light as day up to the Exposition Building. Scores of others will be affected by their good examples, and darkness will be unknown on the route which the pageant will traverse between the den on Third and Almond, and the beautiful new Exposition building on Thirteenth and Olive streets, of whose opening ceremonies this is a part. The route is so long that fully a million people can find room to see the spectacle at some point in its course, and, unlike before, one point is as good as another because there will be no exhaust of torches. As all of the 15 railroads centering here have made special rates, and distributed an immense number of picards and circulars, there is every reason to believe that all the railroads will have been small indeed compared with what they are to be. The Union Depot is to be specially scheduled and provided so as to prevent accident or delay to the visitors, and nothing is to be left undone that will contribute to their comfort. In the procession, in addition to seeking the destruction of the devils and rider, one citizen will ride backward and forward in the effort to sink his claws still more deeply in the quivering flesh. Beneath the struggling contestants the wild weeds and grasses of that warm clime will wave as naturally as they ever do beneath a tropic sun, and all the surroundings will make it seem like a dream of Oriental life.

LEONARD-ROSE—FLOAT NO. 2.

All parts of the globe have been levied up to do tribute to the originality of this enterprising furrier. The trader whose feet have tracked the tiger to his lair in the jungles of India, whose ears have been stabbled by the roar of the hungry lion by the lone lakes of Africa, or whose eyes have seen the polar bear shambling savagely over the ice-fields of the North, will see a dazzling counterpart in St. Louis to bring to mind the fascinating terrors of the wilderness and wilds. The hunter who has spent his life in facing the black and grisly bear of the West will meet again the companions who shared his hunting生涯, and he will vividly recall the cruel clutch of toads and snakes, and those glistening coats and glinty eyes in almost lifelike distinctness in the glare of the electric light. The orientalist, who is forever thinking of turbaned heads brandishing the scimitar, will find his fondest materialized when he gazes upon the Bedouin struggling on horseback to shake off the hungry tiger clinging to his frantic horse.

Two floats will be required to display the bewilder-array of animals and men that will give to that portion of the procession all the vividness of breathing life. The largest will hold the animated scene from the Arabian desert, and it will not require much stretching of the imagination to see the swarthy visage of the Arab grow a deeper color with rage and fear as he looks into the open, upturned jaws of the cruel beasts about him. The horse on which he sits will be of life size, and he will ride with the regular costume of the denizens of the sands, and his life-size figure will be swelled to its full height to illustrate the excitement of the moment. In one hand the historic javelin will be raised ready for launching at the nearest head, while in the other the rude pistol will be on the point of belching forth its deadly fire. To make the picture still more startling two immense tigers will have been imported, and they will be placed in the position of seeking the destruction of the rider and his mount, and the other will ride backward and forward in the effort to sink his claws still more deeply in the quivering flesh. Beneath the struggling contestants the wild weeds and grasses of that warm clime will wave as naturally as they ever do beneath a tropic sun, and all the surroundings will make it seem like a dream of Oriental life.

LEONARD-ROSE—FLOAT NO. 2.

The second float will give to the public not a mere representation, but a full-size picture of two large lions engaged in mortal combat, and roaring their shaggy manes to a height of six feet. Locked in a deadly embrace they will image all the fierceness which characterizes a contest between the kings of the brute creation, and a roar of pain will almost pierce the night and startle the mornutes on the street as one yellow moon is a result of an immense amount of labor in the face of very great obstacles, and without violating the letter or spirit of any agreement, such as is usually fastened upon the public press in such cases, it here presents a detailed, accurate and complete picture of all that the populace will see on the memorable 3d of September.

The Route.

The procession will assemble at the corner of Fifth street and Chouteau avenue, when the floats will be met by the military and civic societies, in the regular style. One hundred sabatory artillery will be fired during the march. The line of march will proceed north on Fifth street to Washington, then west on Washington to Nineteenth street; south on Nineteenth street to Olive; east on Olive to Sixth; south on Sixth Franklin avenue; east on Franklin avenue to Fifth street; south on Fifth street to Washington avenue; east on Washington street to Fourth street and south on Fourth street to Clark avenue.

caught by the teeth of the adversary and the huge form rolls over in the throes of death. Probably nothing could better embody the might and majesty of these tawny lords than the comparison which can be made between them and the other specimens of animal life which will be grouped around and above them. The lions will occupy the center of the float, and directly behind them will appear the soft fur of the ice bear contrasting with the chalybeate grin of his yawning mouth filled with the cruel teeth. At each end of him will be placed a black bear, having all the evidences of his primitive savagery and show scars of his capture. CLEVELAND'S CHANCES.
He Will Surely Carry New York—Terrible
Suffering in Toulon.
By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 25.—Senator Gorman of Maryland, who is chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and also chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Committee, has run over from New York to consult with Secretary Post, and in a talk given him very encouraging statements regarding the situation. Mr. Gorman is one of the shrewdest politicians of the country and is, too, in a position to know just what he is talking about. He says the misrepresentations regarding Cleveland's record and his feelings toward the workmen are being given a very strong support from this class. The attacks upon his private character, which are similar to the attacks made upon the records of various successful candidates from Washington down, will not lose him, he thinks, a single vote. The Republicans are, he thinks, having great trouble to hold their majority in Ohio. West Virginia will be Democratic, they think, and as for New York he says it better it will give a larger Democratic majority at any time since the war.

The State Department has received from Mason, a report upon the situation in that port and Toulon since the statement of the cholera epidemic. He says: "The finances of the port and Toulon have been ruined to the last degree by the sickness and its treatments, caring for the sick and burying the dead. The presence of the impending financial ruin weighed heavily upon the minds of the people, and the ordinary sources of charity are seriously curtailed. The tide of returning fugitives has just set in, and no description can picture more accurately the condition of the port."

The State Department has forwarded to the Governor of Louisiana $1,000 free-school bonds of the State, captured at Baton Rouge, in 1863, by Gen. General Sheridan. They formed part of a loan of $1,000,000 given to the State, and a portion of the value of $3,000,000 captured at the same time, and the majority of which were subsequently restored.

The preliminary hearing of Samuel B. Taylor, who is charged with misappropriating $1,834 per cent. money belonging to Mrs. Elizabeth Dunning, began before Commissioner Morgan at 10 a. m. Taylor denied that he was the main witness in the case. She said her husband had served in the war, and that Taylor had been an employee of Taylor.

They were then living in Scott County, Mo. Mrs. Dunning, having died last November, had given Taylor $1,000 to pay his debts. Taylor had written to her three letters informing her that the pension would not be as large as he expected, but he had given her $1,000 to meet his expenses.

There are about a dozen or more witnesses, and it is probable that Taylor will be held over to the November term of the District court.

The Cable Road.

A rumor was afoot in commercial circles to-day to the effect that Mr. John H. Maxon had succeeded in getting control of the cable road. The rumor probably originated in somebody's effort to explain the entire stoppage of work on the cable road, which is a matter of more than usual importance, especially among the stockholders of the Lincoln Way, the position of which that Mr. Maxon had not bought the road, and did not intend to do so. The matter has been canvassed among the stockholders, and the final decision reached that the game was not worth the candle. Mr. Maxon is in New York at present, and will be home in about a week.

Changed Hands.
The large plant on Broadway, owned by the Ashbrook Bros., and for a number of years used by them as a packing house, changed hands yesterday. Mr. Chas. H. Hertzberg, the well-known packer, who contemplates enlarging his business, is the purchaser, the terms not being made public.

Looks Like Ford.
By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., August 25.—The Republican convention for the third district is now in session. There is a probability that either Ford or Judge H. R. Kelly will be induced as an independent candidate. The feeling is strongly that way.

Crittenden's Son Fired.

Gov. Crittenden, who has been employed for some months in the Wabash offices, has been dropped from the rolls. The move was made, it is said, to cut down expenses.

How They Stand.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 26.—Schedules in the assignments of the lumber first of Bissell & Elliott show lumber $180,500; assets, $182,500.

Arthur's Movements.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., August 25.—The Dispatch arrived from Newport with President Arthur at noon. They received a salute.

ABOUT TOWN.

Two confidence men presented a bogus bill for $2,000, purporting to be from the Germicide Disinfectant Company, the residence of Mr. J. C. Smith, No. 10, Broadway, for payment, but the police are now looking suspiciously at the bill.

The custom of carrying a Buckeye in the pocket is a time-honored one with many of us rural boys, and the observance of it is supposed to be safe—it will avert evil, but the common Buckeye is really valuable because it possesses curative properties, and the tincture prepared from it an ointment that will cure piles. While a Green Vermifuge the best worm killer.

CITY PERSONALS.

J. L. Gill of Frazee, Gill & Co., New York, was a visitor on "Change" today.

Mrs. P. W. Woods, W. M. and Mrs. A. Stringfield, P. W. M. of Paragon Chapter, O. E. S., left this morning for Hannibal to attend the Grand Chapter of the Order.

Capt. Charles F. Warner returned this morning from a three month trip in which he visited nearly every part of the Union. He says he has not stopped two days in one month.

Mr. S. C. French, son of the milliner's department at D. Crawford & Co.'s, left for Vicksburg to have fall and winter patterns of hats and bonnets made.

The ladies of the Woman's Exchange will open in their spacious new building at 617 Locust street to-morrow. On the following day a ladies' restaurant will be opened in the rear of the general restaurant, to which gentlemen will be admitted.

George Eisenhour, for disturbing the peace, was fined $5 and costs in the Police Court this morning. Mrs. Zeiss will arrive home to-night from Mineola, where she had been visiting friends for two weeks.

Thomas McDonald, residing at 6006 Minnesota avenue, was seriously kicked yesterday by his wife while feeding it. He died last night.

Mr. and David Hartman, two colored waiters who worked in the Lohy's saloon at Luxembourg, and brutally wounded the man and woman with stones, had their trial at Luxembourg yesterday at 2 o'clock. They were fined a dollar each, and the default of payment was sent to jail at Clayton to-day.

Sudden Death.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., August 25.—John Burns, 25 years old, a business man whose home is at the Palmer House, Chicago, died at the Massachusetts House to-night.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 25.—Senator Gorman of Maryland, who is chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and also chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Committee, has run over from New York to consult with Secretary Post, and in a talk given him very encouraging statements regarding the situation. Mr. Gorman is one of the shrewdest politicians of the country and is, too, in a position to know just what he is talking about. He says the misrepresentations regarding Cleveland's record and his feelings toward the workmen are being given a very strong support from this class. The attacks upon his private character, which are similar to the attacks made upon the records of various successful candidates from Washington down, will not lose him, he thinks, a single vote. The Republicans are, he thinks, having great trouble to hold their majority in Ohio. West Virginia will be Democratic, they think, and as for New York he says it better it will give a larger Democratic majority at any time since the war.

The State Department has received from Mason, a report upon the situation in that port and Toulon since the statement of the cholera epidemic. He says: "The finances of the port and Toulon have been ruined to the last degree by the sickness and its treatments, caring for the sick and burying the dead. The presence of the impending financial ruin weighed heavily upon the minds of the people, and the ordinary sources of charity are seriously curtailed. The tide of returning fugitives has just set in, and no description can picture more accurately the condition of the port."

The State Department has forwarded to the Governor of Louisiana $1,000 free-school bonds of the State, captured at Baton Rouge, in 1863, by Gen. General Sheridan. They formed part of a loan of $1,000,000 given to the State, and a portion of the value of $3,000,000 captured at the same time, and the majority of which were subsequently restored.

The preliminary hearing of Samuel B. Taylor, who is charged with misappropriating $1,834 per cent. money belonging to Mrs. Elizabeth Dunning, began before Commissioner Morgan at 10 a. m. Taylor denied that he was the main witness in the case. She said her husband had served in the war, and that Taylor had been an employee of Taylor.

They were then living in Scott County, Mo. Mrs. Dunning, having died last November, had given Taylor $1,000 to pay his debts. Taylor had written to her three letters informing her that the pension would not be as large as he expected, but he had given her $1,000 to meet his expenses.

There are about a dozen or more witnesses, and it is probable that Taylor will be held over to the November term of the District court.

The Cable Road.

A rumor was afoot in commercial circles to-day to the effect that Mr. John H. Maxon had succeeded in getting control of the cable road. The rumor probably originated in somebody's effort to explain the entire stoppage of work on the cable road, which is a matter of more than usual importance, especially among the stockholders of the Lincoln Way, the position of which that Mr. Maxon had not bought the road, and did not intend to do so. The matter has been canvassed among the stockholders, and the final decision reached that the game was not worth the candle. Mr. Maxon is in New York at present, and will be home in about a week.

Changed Hands.
The large plant on Broadway, owned by the Ashbrook Bros., and for a number of years used by them as a packing house, changed hands yesterday. Mr. Chas. H. Hertzberg, the well-known packer, who contemplates enlarging his business, is the purchaser, the terms not being made public.

Looks Like Ford.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., August 25.—The Republican convention for the third district is now in session. There is a probability that either Ford or Judge H. R. Kelly will be induced as an independent candidate. The feeling is strongly that way.

Crittenden's Son Fired.

Gov. Crittenden, who has been employed for some months in the Wabash offices, has been dropped from the rolls. The move was made, it is said, to cut down expenses.

How They Stand.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 26.—Schedules in the assignments of the lumber first of Bissell & Elliott show lumber $180,500; assets, $182,500.

Arthur's Movements.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., August 25.—The Dispatch arrived from Newport with President Arthur at noon. They received a salute.

ABOUT TOWN.

Two confidence men presented a bogus bill for $2,000, purporting to be from the Germicide Disinfectant Company, the residence of Mr. J. C. Smith, No. 10, Broadway, for payment, but the police are now looking suspiciously at the bill.

The custom of carrying a Buckeye in the pocket is a time-honored one with many of us rural boys, and the observance of it is supposed to be safe—it will avert evil, but the common Buckeye is really valuable because it possesses curative properties, and the tincture prepared from it an ointment that will cure piles. While a Green Vermifuge the best worm killer.
